Mark, Many thx for your reply, a couple of clarification questions: 1) I've noticed by browsing around that there seems to be a learning that factory Bias current settings are low and there is an opportunity to increase the current (by as much as 200%!) without harming the amplifier, while enjoying superior performance.. Is this true and should I try something like it with this amplifier based on your experience? 2) I assume that you have the service manual.
